

Monday 11th May

Willow Class

Hi Willow,

I hope you are all well and enjoyed another week with some lovely weather. I hope you all enjoyed celebrating VE Day! I celebrated in my front garden with afternoon tea whilst enjoying the sunshine. This week, I have set more work on Purple Mash linked to E-Safety in addition to some English and maths tasks. I feel it is important to remind ourselves about how to be safe online, especially during lockdown when most of us are using the internet so much.

I hope you are all carrying on with your reading and practising your times tables. I have enjoyed some fantastic books during lockdown – hopefully you have too! If you have read a good book, can you make a note of it so we can add it to our 'wish list' for our class book corner?

Below, I have listed some good websites you may want to explore if you fancy a change from Purple Mash.

Take care and I'll hopefully speak to you all soon.

Mrs Young

Alternate Activities

- Continue using the White Rose Maths website for your maths learning as it's one of the best we've found. <https://whiterosemaths.com/homelearning/year-6/>
- This week, I'd like you to continue to explore BBC Bitesize. There are some wonderful lessons set up for you to enjoy again this week - <https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/levels/zbr9wmn>
- RadioBlogging.Net is a daily radio programme that teaches literacy and is aimed at families and schools. It is interactive so that children write and their work is published during and after the show. Each day there are spelling, grammar and vocabulary games, followed by creative writing and responding to reading. The show features a poet of the day and author of the week - <https://radioblogging.net/>
- Elevenses with the World of David Walliams shares one free audio book to listen to and enjoy every day! <https://www.worldofdavidwalliams.com/elevenses/>

Also, it would be fantastic if you could continue to practise 10 spellings from your learning log each week. Maybe your parents could test you?